Observations...

By the Editor

Well, we are going to give our paper a little face lifting starting with our next issue . . . we are going to change to an eight column page instead of seven as presently . . . and the columns will be 3/4 of an inch shorter . . . we are always striving to give you a better paper, and this change will afford us more space in the same number of pages . . . and we will be able to carry more news . . . you too, can help us put out a better paper . . . send us your news . . . call number 3, 104, 132, or 1189 . . . we can assure you we will appreciate your cooperation, and your friends and relatives will appreciate your thoughtfulness in having their visits, parties, and other activities publicized . . . remember the Echo is for your use . . . it is here for the purpose of disseminating local news . . . you read the national news and out of town news releases if they are noteworthy, in your daily paper . . . there is a lot of food for thought in the statement read at the funeral services of Charles Binaggio, Kansas City, Mo., political boss, by Father Raymond E. Jackson, Vice Chancellor of the Diocese, said from the pulpit, as reported by James L. Kilgallen, International News Service Writer, "The Catholic Church does not have to cry from the house of crime and vice. As Catholics we abominate and we condemn syndicated crime and vice. It is as despicable as it is evil. We condemn the underworld and its barbarous and cowardly ways. But we condemn also the underworld-liquor executives, public officials in high and low places and the like, who, though able to retain the aura of respectability, sacrifice every decent principle for their own contemptible and selfish ends. The same blood is upon their hands as upon the hands of the villainous characters whom they both use and protect" . . . we have not reached the point of gang killings as yet in this county . . . but we have been on the edge several times . . . if the rackets continue it will eventually happen . . . this sermon is food for thought for the men who head the rackets, and particularly it is food for thought for those charged with the enforcement of the law . . . yes they sacrifice all for their own selfish ends . . . they lose sight of the fact that they are elected as law enforcement officers for the purpose of protecting their people, and not to allow racketeers to run ruthlessly and rough shod over a majority of the people who elected them to office . . . well it is your conscience . . . but bear in mind it may take much effort and many injunctions to finally rid the county of the rackets, but as sure as shooting they are going . . . the local chapter of the Hancock County Cancer society is going to sponsor a "Coffee Day" at Hotel Reed on April 26, from 10:00 A. M. throughout the remainder of the day . . . remember your presence will help a great cause . . .

The Most Rev. Joseph Kiwanuka, Vicar Apostolic of Masaka, Uganda, Central Africa, visited St. Augustine Seminary last Monday.

The Prelate, welcomed by a talk given by the Rev. Clarence Howard, S. V. D., in a simple ceremony in the Seminary chapel.

EXPLAINS PURPOSE OF VISIT

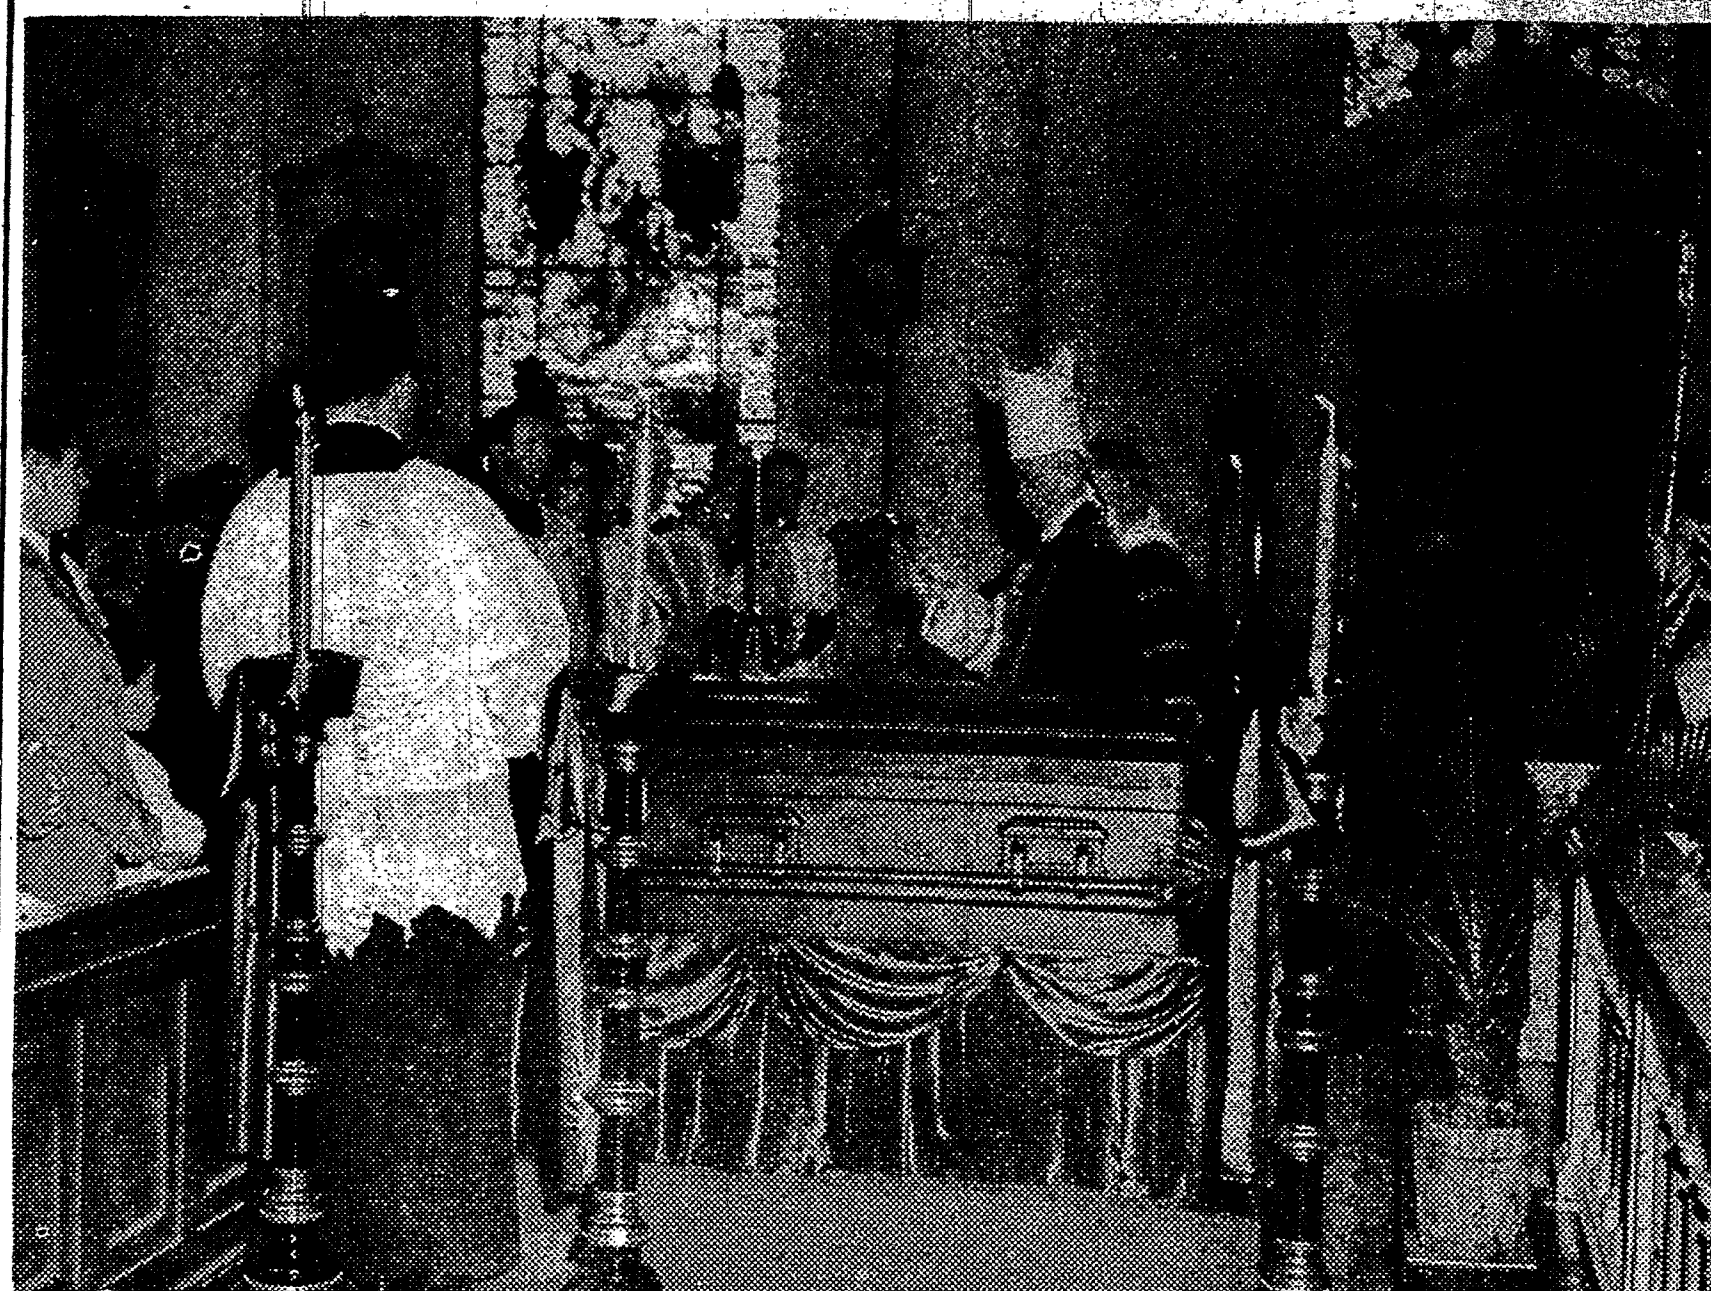

In his address to the faculty and student body, the Bishop said, "I am happy to speak to you. I have looked forward to this visit to St. Augustine Seminary, so that I might get some ideas from this seminary to help me in building the new seminary in my diocese." He explained the purpose of his visit to the United States, and told how he had visited the Holy Father in Rome and asked for more priests and seminarians; how his work was affected by the fact that other Bishops in Africa came from England and other countries. Pope Pius instructed Bishop Kiwanuka to visit the lands from which the other Bishops came—Canada, England, Italy and America.

"Therefore," the visitor concluded, "I am here, and I need help in my work. I know you will assist me, especially in your prayers and that I will meet some generous people who will be friends to those of your race and blood in Uganda."

ONLY NATIVE BISHOP

The only native African Bishop, he is in this country primarily to raise money for his new seminary; he is also interested in establishing a hospital and a college in his diocese and hopes that his new-won and to-be-won American friends will help him in this.

In order to prepare the African priests to be leaders of the people, not only in the spiritual life but also in social works, economics and agriculture, Bishop Kiwanuka is seeking scholarships for American colleges for his priests. A large number of the Holy Father told me that the Bishop Kiwanuka is

Report One Death Over Holidays; Another Seriously Hurt In Accident

One man was killed and another seriously injured on Highway 90 over the Easter holidays.

An unidentified man was killed on Highway 90 four miles west of Bay St. Louis at about 7 p. m. Friday, April 7, when he was struck by a truck driven by Samuel Layosa of Biloxi. Sheriff B. D. Johnson, who was summoned, had the body removed to Fahey's undertaking parlor and proceeded to trace the dead man's relatives. There were no marks of identification; it was said that he had five cents in his pocket, and was wearing a Bell City Tennessee high school sweat shirt.

On Friday, April 7 about 6:15 p. m. Marion E. Maier, 4141 General Pershing street, New Orleans was injured when the motorcycle he was riding struck the curb on Highway 90 at Henderson Point. He was brought to the Kings Daughters hospital where it was determined that he had suffered concussion of the brain and lacerations. Young Maier remained unconscious until Sunday when his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Maier who had arrived when notified of the accident, moved him to New Orleans.

The identity of the dead man was revealed by two Salvation Army workers, Claude Van Court and Hugo Gottlich, who viewed the body Saturday night at the funeral home. They said the man registered in Gulfport as Joseph Kogut enroute from Pennsylvania to California. He had left the Salvation Army home Friday.

Van Court and Gottlich said the man told them he had been visiting his brother, John, at Martin Top, Pennsylvania and was going to Los Angeles to visit another brother, Stanley.

Following the identification of the dead man Sheriff Johnson and Patrolman Wittman communicated by telephone with John Kogut in Pennsylvania notifying him of his brother's death.

The Fahey Funeral Home Monday shipped the body to Martin Top for burial.

Layosa, driver of the truck, was given a hearing here Monday morning before Judge M. D. Rutherford and was discharged.

Bishop J. Kiwanuka Visits St. Augustine's In Attempt To Make Friends For Missions

The Most Rev. Joseph Kiwanuka, Vicar Apostolic of Masaka, Uganda, Central Africa, visited St. Augustine Seminary last Monday.

EXPLAINS PURPOSE OF VISIT

In his address to the faculty and student body, the Bishop said, "I am happy to speak to you. In order to prepare the African priests to be leaders of the people, not only in the spiritual life but also in social works, economics and agriculture, Bishop Kiwanuka is seeking scholarships for American colleges for his priests. A large number of the Holy Father told me that the Bishop Kiwanuka is Bishop Kiwanuka is a member of a pioneer African missionary society, the White Fathers of Africa. When he was a boy of ten years, a White Father asked him if he wished to study for the priesthood; his only answer was, "Who will take care of the farming and the cows for my parents?" The missionary visited his parents and arrangements were made for Joseph to attend the mission school.

JOINS WHITE FATHERS

When he was ordained to the priesthood in 1929, because of his outstanding ability, Father Kiwanuka became a teacher in the native seminary in Uganda. Within a few years he asked to join the White Fathers of Africa, and he made his novitiate in their mother-house at Maison-Carree near Algiers.

CONSECRATED BISHOP

Following this the missionary went to Rome for two years where he earned a doctorate in Canon Law at the Angelicum, the Dominican University. He returned to Uganda, and within a few years was called to Rome; on October 29, 1939, Pope Pius XII consecrated him titular Bishop of Tibiccia and Vicar Apostolic of Masaka, a section of the Uganda protectorate on the shores of Lake Victoria.

The Bishop's diocese has 385,000 people of whom 137,000 are Catholics. In this diocese there are no missionary priests or sisters, all are native Africans. There are 50 priests, 205 Sisters (Bambikari Daughters of Mary), and 25 Brothers (Bambikari Sons of St. Charles) to care for 14 parishes, 90 schools and four dispensaries.

POPE REMEMBERS BISHOP

Last summer Bishop Kiwanuka made his "ad limina" visit to Rome and he told the story of his meeting with Pope Pius XII. "When I went to introduce myself to this Holy Father," he said, "he remembered me and said, 'I remember you and I wonder if you remember what I told you when I consecrated you?' I then repeated the Pope's words at the time of my consecration. 'My son, I am very happy to renew in you the African Episcopacy, discontinued since the time of St. Augustine.'

"And then Our Holy Father continued: 'I asked also that I would like to consecrate many other African Bishops, but my consecrating them depends upon you. If you succeed you will encourage the Holy See to consecrate many more African Bishops. Now, did you succeed?'"

"I then told his Holiness, 'it is not I who should answer that question, your Holiness. The Cardinal charged with that work already has made his report to you. I think he told you that I do my best, but that I have not enough priests to do the work in my diocese.'" The Bishop went on with his conversation with the Pope, and in the course of talking he told His Holiness that he had the vocations but there was no place or means of support for them; therefore, he must turn them away.

The Pope told Bishop Kiwanuka to go to Canada, England and America and make friends who would help him. "This is why I am in America," said the visitor.

Bishop Kiwanuka, the only Negro holding episcopal rank in the Roman Catholic church today, is a maternal and paternal descendant of the martyrs of Uganda.

The Bishop strenuously denies the notion conveyed by several newspapers that he is the first Negro to obtain the power of the Bishopric. He pointed out that not only have there been many negro prelates, but that it is said that more than one Negro has ruled the church as Pope. At this time he happens to be the only negro Bishop in America.

MUSIC, THE UNIVERSAL ART

Music, "the universal art," has always been a powerful influence in the lives of men and women of the times.

Through the centuries we have read of the power of music and its effects on the emotions. It has been said that the ancient Greek hero, Orpheus, charmed the very trees and stones with the music of his lyre. It is thought to be the power of inspiration, the guiding light behind many decisions because it offers the listener or musician an opportunity to get away from the ordinary things of life and enter into a world of his own. We find that in music a person can offer expressions in a language that is not common to everyday life; it embodies the thoughts and feelings of a man who cannot state himself in ordinary words. From music we get what no other art can give us because it deals with the things that are the "basis of all the other arts."

We find that children who are members of a high school band have acquired a certain poise and understanding that is lacking in others. Here we see how the main power of music, inspiration, helps the student in his everyday life.

They undergo strict training that prepares them to take orders in the years to come; but when contest time arrives, they realize that all the practice means perfection for them.

Here in Bay St. Louis we have three bands that always bring honor to our community in any event in which they take part. The bands at St. Stanislaus and Bay High have received superior and excellent ratings in the State Band contests for a number of years; and the newly organized St. Rose de Lima Colored school band has demonstrated its ability at numerous times.

These children who participate in band activities become a part of the spirit that prevails when the music or marching begins. They become one with the emotions expressed in the strains of the melody.

People of Bay St. Louis should try to help in every way possible to encourage the youth of our community to take an active interest in this art which cannot be explained as it has no subject. It is not about any one person or thing, but it is just an expression of the emotions of the author.

The cultural background of a child is developed when he is taught to appreciate and understand good music. Everyone is interested in music, one way or the other; everyday on the streets or in the home, we find people humming, singing or whistling a tune that has caught their fancy.

Once again the members of the local bands are preparing for the State band contest; the students are devoting their time and effort so that they may achieve success in this event. We, of the community they represent, should lend our support to these youngsters and urge and support them in their endeavor. By developing their interest in music, we are encouraging them to go deeper into the finer things of life from which they reap everlasting benefits to help them in the future. They deserve much recognition, and when they offer a local concert they should receive your support.

Grow Southern Pines From Native Seeds

By: T. EWALD MAKI

Gulf Coast Branch Southern Forest Experiment Station, Gulfport, Miss. Southern pine trees should be grown from seed collected near the planting site, according to information in the newly-released twentieth annual report of the Southern Forest Experiment Station, New Orleans.

GROW FROM NATIVE SEED

The Station, a branch of the Forest Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, bases this advice on results from experimental plantations at Bogalusa, Louisiana. Here 22-year-old loblolly pines from Louisiana seed have produced 42 cords of merchantable pulpwood per acre. Trees grown from seed gathered in nearby States produced 15 to 23 cords. The station points out, however, that these results do not mean that seed from one State is better than that from another, but only that pine trees seem to do best when grown from native seed.

Methods of using farm machinery to cultivate newly-established cottonwood plantations have been developed for use in the Mississippi Delta. While cottonwood is the South's fastest growing tree, expensive hand-hoeing has heretofore been necessary to keep planted cottonwoods ahead of weeds and brush during the first year. In tests at Stoneville, Mississippi, however, the Station found that young cottonwoods fertilized with ammonium nitrate and cultivated twice with a farm harrow were nearly five feet tall at the end of the first year and needed no further care.

GOOD FOR WOOD PULP

Studies at representative pine sawmills showed that 22 percent of the weight of wood in a group of pine sawlogs comes off in the form of slabs, edging strips, and pieces of end trim. Ninety-four percent of this material is suitable for manufacture into wood pulp and if so used would ease the present drain on pulpwood-size timber.

A survey of Mississippi's forests found that lumber products make up nearly one-fourth of the State's total income from private enterprise, and provide 68,000 man-years of work annually.

VOLUME DECREASES

The survey also revealed that in the last 14 years the volume of sawlog timber in Mississippi has decreased 24 percent, that the quality of the remaining timber is poorer than before, and that hardwood forest has replaced pine forest on over two million acres.

KEEP AHEAD

The Station is investigating methods of eradicating undesirable hardwoods, which, it said, are crowding out pine in many upland areas of the South. The report states that where no pine seed trees or seed-

Census Laws Assure Secrecy

Residents of this area today were given assurance by Mr. Norton F. Haas, crew leader, that any information obtained from them by Census takers will be held in strictest confidence.

FORBIDS DISCUSSIONS

Mr. Haas said that the law, which authorizes taking the 17th Decennial Census of the United States, expressly forbids Census takers and other employees from communicating to any person not a sworn Census employee any information obtained in the discharge of their official duties.

PENALTIES

Severe penalties are provided for violation of the Census law on the part of employees of the Census Bureau. To reveal any such information, he pointed out, would render the Census taker liable, upon conviction, to a fine of as much as $1,000 and imprisonment for two years. Moreover, prosecution for such offense may be instituted even if disclosure of information is made after employment with the Bureau of the Census is ended.

Mr. Haas said that the Census law even forbids a Census enumerator to answer if he is asked what the population is of his district or any smaller area. Such requests, whether from newspapers, local officials, or individuals, must be referred to the office of the Census District Supervisor. This office will make a preliminary announcement of the population soon after the District's enumeration has been completed.

PROVISIONS

Census enumerators are directed not to omit any dwelling house, structure, farm or resident in their districts, and not to enumerate willfully as a resident of his district any person not entitled to be counted in the enumeration district. Enumerators also are forbidden to enter upon the questionnaire the name of any fictitious person or to make any fictitious or untrue statement concerning any person or farm enumerated. Conviction upon such a charge would lay the enumerator liable to a fine of as much as $2,000 and 5 years' imprisonment.

MUST TAKE CENSUS ONLY

Under provisions of the Census Act, enumerators are not allowed to combine their work with any other occupation, such as collecting information for directory publishers, soliciting subscriptions to newspapers or magazines, or selling or advertising any article whatsoever. The Census takers are not allowed to engage in any activity or discussion with respondents that is not directly related to the work of obtaining required information. They may not, for example, leave any cards or other literature which does not relate to the taking of the Census.

"In view of all these restrictions, plus the fact that every employee of the Census Bureau is sworn to secrecy, no one need fear that information given to the Census takers in April will be revealed or otherwise misused," Mr. Haas declared.

RELEASE OF 1950 FARM COTTON ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS

Hancock County cotton farmers were advised this week that they may now release any part of their 1950 farm cotton acreage allotments that will not be planted to cotton this year. This procedure is provided by new Federal legislation passed by Congress last month.

In making the announcement, Mr. Randolph W. Seal, County Production and Marketing Administration committee chairman, assures growers that if the release is authorized for 1950 only, it will have no effect on the size of an allotment that may be established for a farm in future years.

The chairman points out that the acreage accumulated from these releases will first be used to offset increase in 1950 farm cotton acreage allotments required by the minimum farm allotment provisions of the new legislation. The acreage released and used to offset these increases, he explains, will be credited to the State and county in determining future allotments.

"If any of the released acreage remains after meeting minimum allotment requirements," says the chairman, "it may be used by the county PMA committee to make further adjustments that appear justified in farm allotments already established."

He points out that an official form is provided for a grower to authorize release of all or any part of his allotment, and asks that growers come into the county office in Bay St. Louis for this purpose.

Under the new legislation, cotton farmers who make a written application prior to April 22 are entitled to a minimum farm cotton acreage allotment for 1950 of the larger of 65% of the average planted or regarded as planted to cotton on the farm in 1946, 1947, and 1948, or 45% of the highest acreage planted or regarded as planted to cotton on the farm in any one of these three years. But the minimum allotment cannot exceed 40 percent of the acreage on the farm tilled in 1949, or in regular rotation. Credit for planting "war crops" on the farm is taken into consideration as provided by law in determining the acreage regarded as planted to cotton.

Application forms for requesting this allotment can be obtained at the county PMA office.

REVIEW OF 1950 FARM COTTON ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS

Every farmer in Hancock County for which a 1950 farm cotton acreage allotment has been established may request a review of his allotment continues Mr. Seal. Applications for review are filed at the county PMA office in Bay St. Louis and must be supported by factual evidence in writing, the chairman explains. The review will be made by a special review committee of farmers who are not members of the county PMA Committee that established the original allotment. Mr. Seal also points out that those growers who apply for adjustment of their 1950 cotton allotments to the minimum provided by new legislation passed recently by the congress, will have the usual 15-day period after the notice of revised allotment is mailed to them from the county PMA office in which to file an appeal.

He explains that the authority of both the county PMA Committee and the special review committee to make adjustments in farm allotments is limited to cases where it can be proved that the allotment was not established according to applicable regulations of the U. S. Department of Agriculture under the law.

POOLSON RECEIVES INJURIES IN ACCIDENT

Charles Poolson has been allowed to leave the hospital, where he was treated for a deep gash in his left leg, last Thursday evening.

Mr. Poolson was overhauling a boat engine and the shaft, which extended out from the back, was moving; it caught the leg of his trousers, throwing him to the ground and cut a deep gash in his leg. He was hospitalized from Thursday to Saturday after several stitches had been taken in his leg.

Miss Audrey Poolson, who is on the nursing staff of the Foundation Hospital in New Orleans, had been at home with her parents since the accident; she returned to New Orleans on Wednesday.

GUESTS OF ARCENEAUX

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Bernheim and children of Gulfport spent Easter Sunday here with Mrs. Bernheim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Arceneaux.

Also with Mr. and Mrs. Arceneaux during the Easter holidays were Mr. and Mrs. Donal Arceneaux of Brookhaven, Miss Nahette Arceneaux and her classmate, Miss Betty Kehoe, students at Ursuline College, and Misses Lyn Roth and Sandra Reed, students of the Holy Angels High School, New Orleans. Miss Arceneaux and Miss Kehoe will attend a house party at Mobile over this weekend.

—Miss Anne Alba of New Orleans spent the week end with the A. G. Favres.

"In other words," the chairman says, "the fact that a farmer wants a larger allotment than the law or regulations provides is not a sufficient basis for sending a case to the review committee."

The authority to grant reviews of 1950 farm cotton acreage allotments, even though appeals were not filed within the statutory 15-day period after the original allotment notices were mailed to growers last fall, is contained in the new law, says the chairman.

He explains that the minimum farm allotments for 1950 provided in the new legislation are based on cotton planting history in the years 1946, 1947, and 1948. But past planting history on the farm was only a limiting factor in setting many of the original allotments for 1950, determined according to Public Law 272, passed by the Congress last fall.

"Because of this, we know that some of the farmers, who were not satisfied with the production history established for their farms by the county PMA committee, mailed to file appeals when they received their original allotment notices last fall," says Mr. Seal.

The chairman is also calling cotton growers' attention to the fact that April 22 is the last day in which applications for adjustment of farm allotments to the new statutory minimum can be accepted in the county PMA office. The applications must be in writing, and special forms, available at the office are provided for the purpose.

1950 WOOL PRICE SUPPORT

The United States Department of Agriculture announced this week that the 1950 wool support price program will average 45.2 cents per pound on a national basis. This is 90 percent of the March 15, parity price.

The 1949 purchase schedule prices have been averaged with the 1949 open market prices as a basis for establishing price-relationship between grades in the 1950 program.

This is Good News, Says Officer

By State Health Officer
Most all of us can remember when the word, "cancer" was thought to be a horrible word and was just about as welcome as profanity in the parlor.

CANCER IS CURABLE

Even today cancer is not a very pleasant subject. It so often means suffering and death and broken families. But the word I bring about this disease is pleasant—it's good news and it's news that each of us must help to pass on to our friends and neighbors. The news is this: Cancer is curable when detected early.

If the 200,000 Americans who die each year from cancer knew this fact, at least one-third of them would be on the way to recovery and continued useful life. Cancer need not always mean pain and death. There is much that we can do about this disease.

WARNING SIGNS

The important thing in preventing these needless deaths from cancer is to detect the disease early enough. The persons who have cancer will receive the first warning signs. If they would recognize these signs as possible "symptoms" of early cancer and would seek proper medical advice and treatment, many cancer deaths would not occur.

These are the important signs that may mean early cancer.

Any lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere

Unusual bleeding or discharge

Any change in a wart or mole

Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing

Persistent hoarseness or cough

Any change in normal bowel habits

Know these signs and tell others about them. These symptoms may not mean cancer, of course, but they are reason enough to visit your doctor for examination.

Let's fight cancer with knowledge.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Why "Scoop" No Longer Works Here

Scoop Blake paid us a friendly call at the Clarion office last week and we were talking about when he was a reporter here.

"Remember how mad I got when I found out you were writing that election story right from your desk?" I asked him. "And how I made you get out and learn what a sheriff's job was all about?"

"I sure do, Joe," said Scoop. "I want to thank you for teaching me the 'hat-trick'—putting my feet and fists out the door, that is." Then we both had a good laugh because he found out so much that there it be didn't run and get elected sheriff himself!

From where I sit, we should find out the facts before we try to talk about anything. When we do, we're inclined to be more tolerant... we're apt to understand a little more about the other fellow's predicament. For say, his political candidate or for a temperate glass of beer now and then. I say, if you don't want to get stepped up, don't leap to conclusions.

Confession? — Ask The Man Who Goes There!

Catholics go to Confession to a priest for one reason only: to obtain divine forgiveness for their sins.

But why, you ask, go to a priest? Why not confess our sins directly to God?

Ask the man who goes to Confession and here's what he will tell you: Sin is an offense against God; it must be forgiven by God. It is God, not man, who determines how forgiveness must be obtained. Christ plainly pointed this out when He empowered His Apostles and their successors to forgive sins or to refuse forgiveness.

"Whose sins you shall forgive," Christ said, "they are forgiven them; whose sins you shall retain, they are retained." (John 20:21-23).

Thus Christ authorized the Apostles, and their successors, to pardon or to deny pardon as they judged the sinner worthy or unworthy. To do this they had to know what they were forgiving... the secret dispositions of the sinner... his sorrow and willingness to repair the wrong done to his neighbor by his sins. Who could make this known but the sinner himself—and what is this but Confession?

But Confession—the Sacrament of Penance—is only one of the seven Sacraments Christ left in His Church. Yes, seven—no more and no less! Christ's religion is not merely a message to be accepted, but a life to be lived—from the cradle to the grave. Christ's seven Sacraments are the answer to man's seven basic needs.

Man is born, but he needs to be reborn a Christian in the Sacrament of Baptism. He is nourished, but he needs Christian nourishment in Holy Communion, the Sacrament of the Eucharist. He grows, but he needs to grow and be strengthened in Christian life by the Sacrament of Confirmation. He is cured of disease, but he needs a remedy for sin, so destructive of Christian life, and this he finds in the Sacrament of Penance.

Man lives in society which needs officials to promote the common good—and for his life in the Church, he finds officials provided by the Sacrament of Orders. He perpetuates the human race in marriage, which Christ made the Sacrament of Matrimony. And at death, he needs consolation and strength for the last dread hour which he finds in the Last Anointing—the Sacrament of Extreme Unction.

Would you like to know more about each of the seven Sacraments? How they can help you to meet the seven basic needs of your life? Then write today for a free pamphlet which gives important information concerning them. Ask for Pamphlet No. 5-N.

Dr. Chapman has a message of real value to both business and agriculture. Plan now to attend this meeting, by notifying MEC headquarters in Jackson, Box 1201, of your intentions to be present."

A white cane is always in the hand of a blind man or woman. There are more white canes on the streets today as the result of war and war work. With few exceptions these blind men and women are eager to earn their living notwithstanding their misfortune.

The Laymen of Christ Episcopal church are fully aware of this fact. Saturday, April 15, a gigantic broom sale is being launched in the interest of the men and women who carry these white canes. The Laymen of Christ church, have purchased a large quantity of brooms that have been manufactured by the blind men and women of New Orleans. These well-made brooms will arrive in town Saturday morning, and the members of Christ Church will sell these brooms to Bay St. Louis and Waveland home-makers.

In selling these blind-made brooms, it enables the blind men and women who produce them, to make an honest and honorable living and thereby maintain their self-respect and take their rightful place within the community as taxpayers rather than welfare recipients.

'KEEP GREEN' PROGRAM REDUCES MAN-CAUSED FOREST FIRES

The men who got together in the State of Washington in 1941 to work out a new type of program of forest fire prevention little dreamed that their adapted slogan, "Keep Washington Green," would capture the imagination of people all over the nation and soon develop into "Keep America Green." Today, 26 states have "Keep Green" programs, with millions of residents on the alert to keep fires out of wooded areas.

The thought behind the "Keep Green" program was to get the public, not just forest landowners, interested in protecting America's great resource. The constantly improving fire record in the nation since 1941 is proof the general public is becoming aware that forest fires must be reduced in order to safeguard the thousands of jobs men and women hold with the wood-using industries.

Surveys of causes of forest fires reveal that nine out of ten are man-caused. The others are started by lightning. But the man-caused fires are preventable. That's where the work of "Keep Green" Committees comes in.

With highway signs, newspaper advertisements, radio spot announcements, auto plates, and other devices and methods, state "Keep Green" organizations are constantly reminding the public that fire must be kept out of the nation's forests.

Twenty-six states have joined the Keep America Green program. They are indicated in the shaded areas of the map above.

Through booklets and visual aids, especially prepared by American Forest Product Industries for the schools, children too are increasing their appreciation of our woodlands and of the need for protecting them.

The program was launched originally by a group representing forest industries, government agencies, and others concerned with the nation's mounting fire record. Required was an endless education program designed on a personal level to show the ordinary citizen what forest fires mean in terms of dollars and cents—in taxes, wages, profits, recreation and the living standard. The three word slogan, "Keep America Green," localized as it applies to individual states, sums up the conservation message simply and effectively.

The "Keep America Green" movement is encouraged nationally by American Forest Products Industries, Inc., Washington, D. C., but is sponsored locally by state and private agencies. AFPI is a non-profit, educational organization, set up in 1941, to encourage tree growing for commercial use.

"Keep Green" states include: Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington and West Virginia.

"Give Scouting A Hand"

"Give Scouting a hand." This was the appeal of Commander Fred E. Fayard, Sr., of the Clement R. Bontemps Post No. 139, The American Legion here today as he reaffirmed the Legion's support for the Boy and Girl Scouts of America.

AMONG FINEST "Few institutions of our nation," continued Commander Fayard, "can Scouts in shaping our citizens and compare with the Boy and Girl leaders of the next generation. The fundamental training for citizenship, responsibility, a sense of fair play, and high moral standards afforded by these great youth movements ranks among the finest and most thoroughgoing in America."

LEGION SPONSORS TROOPS Pointing out the part played by The American Legion in Scouting, Commander Fayard said that Posts of The American Legion in Mississippi are supporting a considerable number of Scout troops by actively sponsoring them. In localities where the sponsorship comes from civic organizations of church groups, the Legion is still available to give assistance when needed for the Scouts. "With the arrival of spring," the Legion chief said, "we may look for added activity in Scouting here. More than ever, your local Legion Post and its membership are anxious to see the Boy and Girl Scouts enjoy their greatest season. Give them a hand!"

THE TOURIST TRADE is always best where forests are green and growing. A great menace to forests is fire; fire that reduces trees to smoldering snags, dries up streams, kills wildlife and fish, and destroys recreation areas.

Man is responsible for ninety percent of our forest fires through carelessness. We can all help to reduce this damage by being careful with fire in wooded areas. We'll also help Keep America Green.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

A Little Foresight Saves Work

By Howard F. Simmons

POST TREATING

Mississippi's expanding livestock production calls for good pastures, and good pastures mean good fences. It pays to treat the posts before building fences; otherwise, it probably will not be long before they have to be replaced.

Not much, naturally durable post timber is left; there is a lot of wasted effort in cutting green sap post of some non-durable wood and sticking it in the garden. Without treatment, such a post will have to be replaced in a couple of years.

Treatment is a simple process, but one must first allow time for posts to dry after cutting.

CUTTING TREES

Cut for posts the trees which are too small for pulpwood—line posts should be three inches in diameter at the small end and six feet long; corner or pull posts should be five inches at the small end and seven and one-half feet long. Posts can be cut any season, but those cut in the spring are easier to peel than at any other season.

After cutting trees, move in full length to a convenient place out of the woods. Place bumper logs on the ground and pile posts on these. Cover with pine branches for shade in hot weather. Inspect weekly, and remove the bark as soon as it slips easily; all inner bark must be removed, or a poorly treated post will result.

A peeling tool can be made by straightening a goose-neck hoe, or a hand peeler can be bought or made. After the bark is removed, cut poles into post lengths and give a two to three minute dip in Penta solution to prevent sawyer attack.

Posts must be dry for treating. They should be sorted according to size and stacked crib fashion 18 inches off the ground for three to four months. Cover the stack with boards, tin or roofing paper to prevent checking.

For treating dried posts with Penta, any oil-tight tank may be used. Size of tank should be based on the cost and number of posts to be treated. Mix the solution as recommended by the manufacturer.

Penta may cause skin irritation so rubber gloves may be worn. Use heavy iron weights or cross wedges to keep post down three or four inches below the top of the solution. Keep the tank covered with tin or boards to keep out rain.

When treated, remove posts from the solution and dry outdoors in a well ventilated spot out of direct sunlight. When easy to handle they are ready for use.

See the County Agent for additional details.

VEGETABLE GARDENING

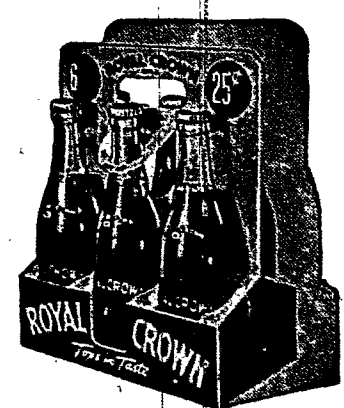

April is a "big" month in Mississippi. A large variety of vegetables can add much to family health, as well as being a big economy.

Included in the list of things to plant this month are bush snap beans, pole snap beans, bush lima beans, pole lima beans, carrots, sweet corn, cucumbers, collards, eggplant, leaf lettuce, radish, soy beans, mustard, and okra.

It's also time for tomatoes, pepper, squash, New Zealand spinach, turnips, tendergreens, sweet potatoes, cantaloupes and watermelons. When the frost date is past, go to the garden with tomato, eggplant and pepper plants. If plants were set in a coliframe in early March, they should be hardened and ready to set in the open by April 1 to 15.

Water the bed before removing plants and transfer in the late afternoon or on a cloudy day, transfer with some soil on the roots. Use a teaspoonful of starter solution around each plant when setting.

Work some "life" into the garden rows as soon as possible. Garden soil is usually "packy" after winter and spring rains. Dig, hoe and rake until the soil is loose and shows good tilth.

C. of C. Discusses Spraying Program

At a meeting of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce held on Tuesday night of this week, a number of matters of local value came up for discussion; among them were the location of the toll bridge to be built across the Bay of St. Louis and the insect spraying campaign for the city. In the absence of president H. H. Shattuck, Vice President Robert L. Hamilton, presided.

Coming up for a lengthy discussion was the matter of holding the regular meetings of the C. of C. less frequently and giving the work of business matters to the Board of Directors and the committees. No definite decision was reached.

SPRAYING MACHINE

The program for spraying the city for insect control is now underway and according to Mr. T. T. Robin this year's spraying will be more beneficial than last year's due to the fact that a spraying machine, the property of the community will be made, providing fund collections allow such. A sub-committee, composed of T. T. Robin and Robert L. Hamilton together with Chairman Delph will soon decide on the acquisition of such a machine.

Mr. Delph in accepting the chairmanship of this very important committee, named as committee members the following citizens:

Dr. John L. Griffin, Mr. Walter James Phillips and Mr. Emmett Demoran.

It will be remembered that Mr. Delph spearheaded the very successful spraying program of last year. Mr. Robin said, "we continuously see new and young faces of our local younger men at these meetings which is a good sign that the C. of C. is being recognized as having an interest in local affairs. The future of our community lies with the younger men."

The organization has expressed its appreciation for the donations coming in for the spray campaign; also for the wholehearted cooperation of the City Commissioners and their willingness to be of assistance in all matters pertaining to betterment of the city.

YACHT CLUB NEWS

All lovers of boats like the smell of seasoned cypress, mahogany and spruce, and that's just the odor that greets you when you walk into the boat department of W. A. McDonald and Sons where they are building the four fish class sloops for the Bay Waveland Yacht club.

No yacht club can be a member of the Gulf Yachting Association unless they own at least two of these twenty-two foot sailing yachts.

The thirteen members of the G. Y. C. race their sloops in club and inter club competition.

The Bay-Waveland Yacht Club would like to have all members or anyone in town go to McDonald's and see the construction of these boats.

Several regattas are already planned for this late Spring and summer. The first is to be given by the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club when the "Gulf one design" fleet of sail boats from the Southern Yacht Club of New Orleans comes over.

The Saturday night dinners are always a success; from 105 to 225 members are served excellent meals each Saturday. This is followed by dancing.

Baron - Bartram Wedding Held

The wedding of Miss Patricia Ann Bartram, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Bartram, and Mr. Thomas Maxwell Baron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Baron of Steubenville, Ohio, was solemnized Sunday, April 9 at 7:30 p. m. at Christ Episcopal church; Rev. C. R. Johnson, performing the ceremony.

Before an altar, which was banked with Easter lilies, gladiolas and white stock, lighted by white tapers in seven branch candelabra the young couple pronounced their vows.

The bridal party entered to the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus played by Mrs. C. L. Horton; Mendelssohn's march was played for the recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of candlelight satin fashioned with an over bodice made with a cardigan neckline and peplum; seed pearls trimmed the bodice from the neck down the front and around the peplum. The long sleeves, finished in a point over the hand, were trimmed in seed pearls. The bouffant skirt fell in a long train. She wore a bonnet, of the same material as the dress, which was lined inside the brim with seed pearls. From this fell the long heirloom veil of ivory silk lace which was held to the bonnet with a twisted rope of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of lilies of the valley and Fleur d'amour tied with ivory satin ribbon. She also carried a handkerchief of imported handmade linen and lace which the bridegroom's mother carried at her wedding.

Miss Bartram had as her matron of honor Mrs. Rene de Montluzin, Jr. who wore a dress of sand beige crepe fashioned with a high neck, long sleeves and a soft full skirt, of unpressed pleats. Her maids were Mrs. Ann McNab and Miss Alicia Rollins whose dresses were of desert green made as the matron of honor's. They all wore bouquets of the same material as the dresses, and carried crescent shaped bouquets of Coral gladiolas. Mrs. de Montluzin's was tied with gold colored satin ribbon and the others were tied with silver colored ribbon.

Mr. Baron had as his best man his brother, Robert Baron, and as ushers Rene de Montluzin and William P. Richardson, Jr.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Bay-Waveland Yacht club. Receiving with the bridal party were Mrs. Bartram who wore an early spring model dress of grey and green print silk; Mrs. Baron who wore light blue net over silk. Both wore shoulder corsages of Cymbidium orchids. Also in the receiving line was Mrs. George Whitaker of Orlando, Florida, grandmother of the bride who wore a pink lace with a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Professor Alfred Pounard, concert pianist at Loyola Academy of music, and his cellist played late classical numbers during the hours of the reception.

For traveling the bride wore a tailored suit with a navy blue skirt and light blue check jacket and accessories were British tan. Following a wedding trip of several weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Baron will be at home in Charleston, West Virginia.

Out of town guests here for the wedding were Mrs. William Kline of Los Angeles, California and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baron of Indianapolis, Indiana.

John Vaughn and Ray Henson, back row, will be King and duke of honor of the annual May Festival at Bay High school. Joyce Davis, and Inez Kingston, front row, will be the queen and maid of honor. The students were chosen at an election by members of the senior class March 30.

NATIONAL COFFEE DAY SET FOR APRIL 26

National Coffee Day for the Cancer Drive will be held Wednesday, April 26 at Hotel Reed from 10 a. m. through the remainder of the day.

Everyone is urged to make up coffee parties and help a cause that may mean the restored health of a neighbor.

Plans for raising Hancock County's quota in the present Cancer Fund Drive are nearing completion, Mrs. Leo G. Ford, drive chairman, said. The actual drive will begin within the next few days.

Webb School Mothers' Club Appoints Nominating Group

At the April meeting of the Webb school Mothers' Club a nominating committee composed of Mrs. Oswald Carmouch, Mrs. George F. Fletcher and Mrs. Owen Heitzmann was appointed. Miss Pauline Russ and Mrs. Claiborne Ladner, teachers, are to meet with the group.

The Mothers club has worked unceasingly to have a well-equipped lunchroom at the school where the children can obtain a balanced hot meal.

Through the courtesy of the City school board and Mr. S. J. Ingram they obtained a well-lighted lunchroom; and Mrs. Ben Hille, president of the club, put on a campaign to get the necessary materials for benches and one table which were given by the Superior Supply Company; a second table and benches was donated by the Magnolia State Supply Company; and a third set is needed. It is hoped that some interested party will donate this.
